

RISING CELEBRITY ENTREPRENEUR

ARNOLD KWOK

Arnold Kwok is a distinguished Hong Kong TVB artiste, entrepreneur, and multifaceted individual. From engineering to acting and entrepreneurship, his life journey has been marked by diverse experiences and achievements.

Arnold's educational background includes attending prestigious institutions such as La Salle College, Brighton College, and Imperial College London, where he earned a bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering. His exceptional qualities led him to become the first Chinese international model for Abercrombie & Fitch, making history in the fashion industry.

Arnold's commitment to physical fitness is evident through his championship in the 2018 PCA PRO Physique competition. Currently, he is a prominent actor at TVB, showcasing his talent and versatility. Simultaneously, he serves as the CEO and co-founder of Brainstorming Entertainment Limited, specializing in video production and social media management. He is also a co-founder of Hong Kong Celebrity Coach Limited, supporting aspiring celebrities.

Beyond his professional accomplishments, Arnold is an ambassador for the HKUST DiMBA course and a life member of the Hong Kong United Youth Association. He represents Meta Hong Kong Reel Squad, promoting the art of cinematography and filmmaking.

With a multitude of fitness coaching certifications, Arnold emphasizes personal fitness and well-being. His diverse career and commitment to excellence establish him as an influential figure in the entertainment industry and business world. Arnold Kwok's remarkable achievements and contributions inspire others in Hong Kong, showcasing his versatility and impact across various domains.